RURAL DEVELOPMENT

Promoting holistic rural development of communities

KEY INTERVENTIONS

Rural Rajasthan has a vast scope for improvement in a number of fields ranging from agriculture, infrastructure development to even education. HDFC Bank, under its Holistic Rural Development Programme worked in the state to sustainably help communities improve their livelihoods through:

- Improved agricultural techniques
- Soil & water conservation measures
- Natural Resource Management (NRM)
- Horticulture
- Orchid development
- Herbal plantation planning

Renovation of school infrastructure, WASH activities, provision of safe drinking water etc. are also taken up to ensure a conducive learning environment in schools & anganwadis.

IMPROVED IRRIGATION FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE | DISTRICT - DAUSA

In order to promote the usage of more renewable energy sources at the rural-level, Parivartan provided the villages of Khatoombar & Gol with 5HP solar pumps. Powered by solar panels, these pumps provide farmers with a far cheaper & more sustainable alternative to fuel-powered generators. In addition, the Bank helped install 7 mini-sprinklers in the villages of Diwachli Kalan, Hameerpura & Khatoombar to enable steady & reliable water supply. Changes in climate across the globe due to global warming has had an understandably significant effect on agriculture. In the neighbouring villages of Ghata & Dhaun, this change has manifested itself in erratic rainfall during monsoons; add to this a low regional water table & the effect on agriculture becomes pronounced. Parivartan hence decided upon constructing an anicut - a small-to-medium sized dam - in order to create a large, accessible reservoir for both irrigation & cattle-drinking. The resulting anicut between the 2 villages is now 28 metres long.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT THROUGH FLORICULTURE | DISTRICT - DAUSA

Due to its recently-developed commercial potential, the production & marketing of floriculture was considered by Parivartan to be a viable source of income for farmers from the villages of Ninori & Khatoombar. 5 of them were provided with both rose saplings & the necessary support in order to get the initiative off the ground, thus ensuring its sustainability.

CREATING STRONGER & EMPOWERED COMMUNITIES

India's rural communities have had a long tradition of self-governance & self-reliance; however, the leaps of modernisation & inevitables such as climate change have started to challenge these old structures. Extra-constitutional authorities such as Parivartan's Village Development Committees (VDCs) hence act as a corrective to these massive changes - strengthening the social fabric of communities whilst providing them with new & better opportunities for financial development via skill development workshops.

CHANGING LIVES WITH HIGH-TECH FARMING | DISTRICT - DAUSA

Shyonarayan and Shakuntala Devi are two marginal farmers practicing traditional farming on their lands in Rajasthan. They were facing monetary issues due to high input expenses and not making enough profits to meet their needs. Parivartan aided them in adapting High-Tech farming and trained them in:

- Proper utilisation of fertilizers
- Use of low pressure drip irrigation
- Effective use of plastic mulching sheets
- Water conservation during farming

Shyonarayan and Shaktuntala today have better quality vegetables, no pest issues and have a profit margin of Rs.98000 and Rs.82,900 respectively.

CREATING A DIGITAL VILLAGE

Citizens of 375 villages in Rajasthan are unable to access the internet as a basic right. Poor internet connectivity, absence of human connection, lack of opportunities of collaborative learning, and decline of hands-on-learning are the challenges faced by the people. These villages are being provided with low-cost internet connectivity, knowledge centres to educate at least one person from each household, propagate net banking and ease tele-consultation services. These digital services have improved village sustainability and quality of life. Through this programme the villages have been provided with educational services, internet connectivity, digital health services and financial services.

INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT FOR UPLIFTMENT OF STUDENTS AT BHILWARA | DISTRICT - BHILWARA

HDFC Bank Parivartan is undertaking multipronged infrastructure boost and support through multiple interventions at a school in Bhilwara. Flooring and painting activity; drinking water areas will be refurbished. A boundary wall will be constructed along with 2 m high fencing on the wall. A well-furnished Smart classroom will also be set up for a capacity of 45 students. An ICT Lab with 11 CPUs, monitors, mouse and chairs will also be set up in the school.

SUSTAINABLE CRAFT ENTERPRISES FOR A VIBRANT ECOSYSTEM | DISTRICT - RAJASMAND

To create a vibrant ecosystem at the Devgarh block of Rajasmand district in Rajasthan, HDFC Bank Parivartan along with URMUL Rural Health Research and Development Trust is looking at harnessing the potential of value chains for a complete socio-economic transformation at 12 villages. The project will impact 600 families of farmers/ mining labours and artisans through incubation of craft clusters that foster sustainable craft enterprises to subsequently enhance their income. The intervention aims at:

- Training marginal farmers/mining labours for Agri value chain development

PROMOTION OF EDUCATION

Creating a conducive learning environment in communities

PROJECT DISHA

Project Disha aims to educate children from government schools with the help of innovative & holistic interventions. To make learning interesting & effective, Parivartan launched the project in Rajasthan specifically targeting adolescent students as well as teachers. It has introduced customised learning modules encompassing result-oriented activities to improve the students' regularity, learning scores & develop community-level leadership skills. Having reached out to about 2,000 students across 20 villages in the state, Disha is now all set to touch its goal of 19,000 students across the country. Moreover, the programme has also introduced concepts such as Bal Sabhas & Youth Collectives to further improve youth inclusivity in the process of community-level decision making.

EMPOWERMENT THROUGH SMART SCHOOLS

To make technology accessible to the students of government schools by leveraging the existing infrastructure, Parivartan has introduced Smart Schools. By enabling teachers access to curriculum-mapped digital learning content & several capacity building programmes, the project is successfully bringing about a holistic change in Rajasthan's education system. Over 26,000 students from 200 schools across the state have been benefited thus far.

EDUCATION FOR THE UNDERPRIVILEGED | DISTRICT - AJMER

The state of education in rural Rajasthan, whilst improving every year, still has a long way to go. PROMOTION OF TRADITIONAL CRAFTS | DISTRICT - BIKANER, JODHPUR

The legacy of making traditional handicrafts has been passed on through generations in Rajasthan. Harnessing the traditional skills of the community would ensure a steady & drought-proof source of livelihood, which is why the Bank focused on capacity-building for women artisans through training & setting up of craft centres with requisite infrastructure. Its comprehensive skill-building workshops have economically empowered them, thus enhancing their socio-economic situation. The interventions enabled women to develop a crafts-based livelihood enterprise & sensitised communities in the programme areas to adopt crafts as a drought-proof alternative livelihood.

A SECOND CHANCE AT LIFE | DISTRICT - ALWAR, BHILWARA

In truly developed societies around the world, the lives of criminals don't tend to come to a halt once & for all with imprisonment, these societies recognise their rehabilitation as being just as important as their punishment. Parivartan, understanding this, hence devised a revolutionary initiative: providing valuable skill training to 320 inmates in the districts of Alwar & Bhilwara. Launched in partnership with Orion Educational Society, the initiative also aims at motivating these prisoners find suitable employment once they're released, thus freeing them from the vicious cycle of crime. Not only is the establishment of such canteens in 5 of its project villages in Udaipur providing the most vulnerable members of these communities with much-needed nutrition, but they're also instrumental in providing many women in the region gainful employment. The centres, in addition to cooking 15,000 rotis a month, also train women in valuable skills such as tailoring, embroidery-work & paper-bag making, thus ensuring them gainful employment in the future.

Through the enterprise, supplementary income is generated, thus resulting in the creation of green employment opportunities. The Bank launched its efforts with the vision of creating a village-level community -based ecotourism enterprise across the programme areas. It upskilled community members through training & infrastructural support that provided a fresh impetus to community-level conservation initiatives. They were launched in a systematic manner to ensure that every household engaged in community-based tourism would achieve an increment of 10% in their family income.
